Cody: somebody got our communication misinterpreted. IHS is geared up to provide water to the community -- usually the tribe provides this.

Dr. Hubbard of Region 9 contacted me yesterday about EPA' plan to assist Denver EPA. I provided him an update of our activities from our hospital in Shiprock and that at this time, NAIHS will be working and coordinating with the Navajo Nation EOC and working very closely with other agencies. I also indicated our primary focus at time is to assure we are prepared to provide health services as needed. Providing water support to the community of Shiprock was not part of our conversation.

Hi June,

Not sure if you're the person I speak to about this, but there's been a spill into the Animas river in Colorado from an old mine during some routine work being done by the EPA which released a large plume of heavy metals and other chemicals. The plume is currently making its way (if not already) to the Navajo Nation. Cody Hubbard from the EPA has said IHS has been notified and will be providing emergency water resources to the town of Shiprock. I just want to verify this and make sure the Navajo Nation is getting all the resources they need for this event. Please let me know if you can provide me with this information.

Thank you!!
